

Problem Statement:

There are no more waterproof phone cases that are protective and leave the microphone functional.

Details :

Phone cases such as life proof and otterbox used to be very popular and were fully enclosed cases that also protected your phone from water while being fully functional. Now, it is very difficult to find a phone case that is fully enclosed and does not take away from your user experience. It is also difficult to find a phone case that is not fully enclosed that is very protective. This is a problem because no one wants to break their phone but they also have to be able to be heard while on phone calls.